

God's ways are mysterious but He has good purposes for his people

God's ways in history are very mysterious but God has good purposes for his people. Paganism – in the form of the Assyrians – was apparently triumphing in Isaiah's time, but Isaiah looks forward to something very different.

The oppressor will not continue forever

The oppressor will not continue forever. God will act in judgement against Assyria.

16Therefore the Sovereign Lord, Yahweh Almighty, will send a wasting disease upon his sturdy warriors; under his pomp a fire will be kindled like a blazing flame.

Without being specific Isaiah sees disease and fire working together, disease within and fire coming from outside, both working together to destroy Assyria.

Assyria will deteriorate to nothingness, but Israel will become a brightly burning flame

Assyria will deteriorate to nothingness, but Israel will become a brightly burning flame.

17The Light of Israel will become a fire, their Holy One aflame; in a single day it will burn and consume his thorns and his briers.

18The splendour of his forests and his gardens, it will completely destroy, as when a sick man wastes away.

19And the remaining trees of his forests will be so few that a child could write them down.

• Isaiah sees the situation with the eye of faith

In Isaiah's day Assyria seemed to be the conqueror and Israel was threatened with extermination, but with the eye of faith Isaiah sees things the other way around. Assyria is diseased and burnt, and Israel is the flaming fire. Assyria is reduced almost to nothing. A child could count what would be left. 'The remnant' – the remaining godly people of Israel – will conquer mighty Assyria.

• The 'remnant' will conquer Assyria

The victories over paganism come by faith

The victories over paganism come by faith. It is remnant-Israel that is the mighty burning fire that brings Assyria to total defeat!

20In that day the remnant of Israel, the survivors of the house of Jacob, will no longer rely on him who struck them down but will truly rely on Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel.

• Isaiah sees Israel struck down by invading forces sent by God

Isaiah envisages an Israel that has been struck down by invading forces sent by God. Yet somehow Israel's extermination is not total. There are survivors and they come to faith as never before. No longer do they rely on Assyria; instead they look to God directly. They now know that God is indeed the Holy One of Israel.

• The survivors look directly to God!

21A remnant will return, a remnant of Jacob will return to the Mighty God.

• Some people in northern Israel will return to God

In northern Israel there will be some – not the entire nation – who will return to God. ('Mighty God' is the same term that we had in 9:6.) Isaiah's son Shear-yashub ('a remnant will return') was a constant reminder that Isaiah expected that the purposes of God would continue no matter how far the nation as a whole fell below its calling to be a light to lighten the gentiles. There would always be some who would turn their lives around and come back to God.

•Some people in northern Israel will return to God

²²But your people, O Israel, will be like the sand by the sea, a remnant will return.

*A full completion has been decreed,
God will act in overwhelming righteousness.*

²³For the Sovereign Lord, Yahweh Almighty, will carry out the end decreed upon the whole land.

• The 'remnant' will be a large number

Not only will there be a 'remnant' of northern Israelites who turn to God. Their numbers will be large! Then 'the remnant' will be a number so large that it cannot be counted – like the sand on the seashore.

• Isaiah states this as a matter of faith – hard to see how it could happen

All of this is stated by Isaiah as a matter of faith. From Isaiah's pre-Christian standpoint no one could have had any idea how it could happen. Northern Israel was soon to be destroyed so as no longer to be a nation. So when did any kind of remnant survive in northern Israel? When did the remnant ever become a mighty multitude? Only the New Testament has the answer. We remember how Jesus went to Samaria (northern Israel which the Assyrians had turned into a half-Assyrian colony), and a large number came to faith in Jesus¹. We remember too how the disciples were told to give special attention to Samaria in its evangelistic outreach². And we recall that Samaria has its own 'day of Pentecost'. When gentiles were added to the church of the Lord Jesus Christ (consisting at that time of Jews and Samaritans) to become a more-than-ever multicultural people, 'the remnant' became a number so large it could not be counted – like the sand on the seashore. The predictions of Isaiah were fulfilled in a way that surpassed anyone's expectations.

• Only the New Testament has the answer – many came to faith when Jesus visited Samaria

² Acts 1:8

• Isaiah's predictions fulfilled

If God is sovereign in history, his people need have no fear.

If God is sovereign in history, his people need have no fear

*²⁴Therefore, this is what the Sovereign Lord, Yahweh Almighty, says:
'O my people in Zion,
do not be afraid of the Assyrians,
who beat you with a rod
and lift up a club against you, as Egypt did.'*

If God's chastenings are temporary, his people can look for them to end

If God's chastenings are temporary, his people can look for them to end.

*²⁵'For very soon my anger against you will end and my wrath will be directed to their destruction.'
²⁶Yahweh Almighty will find a whip, as when he struck down Midian at the rock of Oreb; and he will raise his staff over the waters, as he did in Egypt.*

• Sennacherib will be defeated

The Assyrian king Sennacherib will be defeated, as were Oreb¹ and Pharaoh².

² see Exodus 14:15-28

The enemies of God's people will be broken; the Saviour will triumph

The enemies of God's people will be broken; the Saviour will triumph.

*²⁷In that day their burden will be lifted from your shoulders,
their yoke from your neck;
the yoke will be broken because of the oil.*

• Oppression by Assyria would come to an end

The oppression of Israel by the Assyrians would come to an end. The last phrase (literally 'because of the oil') perhaps has the sense 'because the nation is specially dedicated to God' (anointing with oil being a sign of dedication and consecration in Old Testament times).

• Isaiah describes the Assyrian army approaching Jerusalem

²⁸*They enter Aiath;
they pass through Migron;
they examine their weapons at Michmash.*
²⁹*They go over the pass, and say,
'We will camp overnight at Geba.'
Ramah has panicked;
Gibeah of Saul has fled.*

Isaiah is mentioning various towns in Israel. Aiath seems to be the town known elsewhere as Ai. The picture is of the Assyrian army approaching Jerusalem. Gibeah was known for its associations with King Saul.

• He goes on to speak of the powerlessness of the Assyrian army

³⁰*Scream at the top of your voice,
O Daughter of Gallim!
Listen, O Laishah!
Poor Anathoth!*
³¹*Madmenah is in flight;
the people of Gebim take cover.*
³²*This day they plan to halt at Nob;
they will shake their fist
at the mount of the Daughter of Zion, at the hill of Jerusalem.*

The towns are ones which are near to Jerusalem; Nob seems to be within sight of Jerusalem itself. But now Isaiah goes on to speak of the powerlessness of the Assyrian army.

• The arrogance of the Assyrians will come to nothing

³³*See, the Sovereign Lord, Yahweh Almighty, will lop off the boughs with great power.
The lofty trees will be felled,
the tall ones will be brought low.*
³⁴*He will cut down the forest thickets with an axe;
Lebanon will fall, chopped down by the Mighty One.*

• The humility of the Saviour will triumph

Despite its very threatening and rapid approach, the Lord cuts it down. Isaiah 10:33–34 prepares the way for Isaiah 11:1. Lofty trees (Assyrians) are cut down, but a little twig (the Saviour in David's line) will appear. The arrogance of the Assyrians will come to nothing¹; instead the humility of the Saviour will triumph.
